A Love Letter to Our Volunteers

Every time we find a difficult task that needs to be done, someone steps up to do it.

When we moved from Clock Tower Place we had to leave behind a large commercial freezer because it was thought that when we had it fully loaded it would be too heavy for the floor boards at the Coolidge School to support. We were able to store it at Clock Tower for a time but they now need the space and the freezer had to be moved. This weekend three men, two trucks and lots of ingenuity and muscle moved the freezer to a storage area at the Coolidge School so that it will be available to us when we have a location that can support it. Many thanks to Gary, Will and Fran for their Herculean efforts.

And an equally large hurrah to all our volunteers who show up every week to pick up donations, unload trucks of supplies, stock shelves, chop vegetables, create and cook delicious meals, serve them, wash dishes, write thank you letters, raise funds, and do all the other behind the scenes work that is needed to allow Open Table to continue to serve our guests every week.

You are awesome. Thank you.
